ABOUT THE EDDINGTON CYCLING FESTIVAL

Eddington, the new community being delivered by the University of Cambridge, is hosting a FREE cycling festival on Saturday 9th June from 10am-4pm.

The cycling festival is a free, fun, family-friendly day open to the Cambridge community. You can put your cycling skills to the test on a range of exciting activities, alongside a series of workshops and demonstrations.

HOW TO GET HERE

The cycling festival will be held in Market Square in Eddington, CB3 1SE and we encourage travelling by sustainable modes wherever possible.

BY BIKE/FOOT

Eddington is a 10 minute cycle ride from Cambridge City Centre and there will be ample cycle parking available for cyclists on the day. Cyclists and pedestrians can get to Eddington via the Ridgeway, a cycle and pedestrian route from Storey's Way and Horsechestnut Avenue, and from Huntingdon Road and Madingley Road.

BY BUS

Eddington is only 20 minutes away from the centre of Cambridge by bus. The Universal Bus route goes to Eddington from Addenbrooke's, Cambridge station, the city centre and West Cambridge. www.go-whippet.co.uk/new-route-u/

BY CAR

We have limited parking available on site and we discourage driving where possible. There are a number of disabled parking bays for users displaying a Blue Badge. Additional parking is available at Madingley Road Park and Ride.
